Resources for Finding an Internship

November 17, 2015
Career Prep Workshop

Presented By:
Jason Jeffrey
Workshop Objectives

• Consider your needs and interests for internship opportunities.
• Understand the scope of resources (both CMC and beyond) that can help you find internship opportunities.
• Provide tactics to help navigate these resources and the search process.
Considering Your Interests

Consider WHY you are looking for an internship. Think about your interests and skills.

START WITH THE WHY
(NOT WITH THE WHAT)
CMC Resources

Below are the resources we offer:

• Sponsored Internship Program (SIP)
• ClaremontConnect
• Nationwide Internship Consortium (NIC)
• Alumni Career Contacts Database

Claremont Connect

This is your on-campus resource for on-campus jobs, internships, and full-time careers.
NIC Database

This is a specific database for internships from 18 affiliated colleges & universities.

- Opportunities come from across the country.
- Same platform as ClaremontConnect.
Alumni Career Contacts

This resource has an updated list of our alumni and their professions.

- It is located on the “For Students” page.

On the CSC Website!
This resource has some great internships in which students have participated.

- It is located on the “For Students” page.
For individuals who may want to pursue graduate school opportunities or go into the sciences, a research assistant position may be a great summer experience.
Beyond CMC Resources

Below are additional resources that may be helpful in the internship search:

- LinkedIn
- Indeed.com
- GoinGlobal
- Google Search
LinkedIn is a great way to reach out to CMC alumni.

- Search “Claremont McKenna College.”
- Click on “Students & Alumni.”
- Search & connect!
Indeed is a broad-reaching database that helps navigate the search for jobs & internships based on location.
This is a job & internship database with opportunities around the world. It is helpful in providing international eligibility and Visa sponsorship information.
Sometimes there is nothing better than your old-fashioned Google Search.
