

INTERNSHIPS WITH MORE FIELDWORK THAN PAPERWORK

Outreach Concern, Inc., a non-profit counseling agency dedicated to serving the needs of children and families, is now accepting applications for its internship program. Outreach Concern is known for exceptional training, management and supervision of its intern-counselors. We're currently offering over 300 internship positions for the upcoming 2015-2016 school year.

- Internships now available for senior level Bachelor's Master's and Doctoral students seeking real-world experience.
- Open to majors in Psychology, Counseling, Pupil Personnel Services (PPS), Marriage and Family Therapy (MFT), Child/Adolescent Development, MSW, Sociology and Human Services.
- On-site internships available in Los Angeles and Orange Counties.
- Work with elementary and secondary level students and their families in an educational setting.
- Learn face-to-face counseling, cognitive/behavioral/crisis interventions, family system dynamics, educational issues, case management, laws and ethics, and clinical presentations.
- Receive strong clinical supervision, paid malpractice insurance and extensive training—including year-round training programs from a variety of specialists.
- Handle diverse caseloads providing a highly rewarding academic and professional opportunity for both experience and inexperienced students.
- Requires two days per week (approximately 15 hours) for the academic school year.
