

Home Base Program
Clinical Research Coordinator Position (Full-Time)

The Home Base Program for Veterans and their Families at the Massachusetts General Hospital is accepting applications for a Clinical Research Coordinator position.

The Home Base Program is a partnership between the Red Sox Foundation and the Massachusetts General Hospital. We are dedicated to improving the lives of veterans who deployed in support of the conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan and live with deployment- or combat-related stress and/or traumatic brain injury. We provide clinical care to veterans as well as support for their families. The Home Base Program offers educational courses and materials for health care providers and the public. We are also bringing together world-class researchers seeking medical breakthroughs in the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of traumatic brain injury and stress-related disorders.

The Research Coordinator will be responsible for managing research and outcomes assessments related to the Home Base Training Institute education, implementation, and dissemination initiatives to improve the care of veterans and military families impacted by deployment stress, Traumatic Brain Injury, PTSD, and related conditions. Other responsibilities include:

- Project initiation and maintenance, including outcomes data, binders, and study databases
- Preparation and modification of ethics committee proposals
- Assistance with focus groups and administration of questionnaires
- Data entry and analysis
- Assistance with writing of results for reporting, presentations, and manuscripts
- Assist with associated education and dissemination activities
- Act as a project resource for staff and for education outcomes team

Qualified applicants must have achieved a B.A. or B.S. in Psychology or a related field and should have prior research experience. The position is available immediately. This position offers valuable clinical research experience in preparation for applying to graduate school in clinical psychology or medical school.
